Dear Mr. Weisberg—

I'm so sorry I have taken so long but it proved necessary. Firstly though the address on Eugene's letter was correct so I didn't call. I spect by now you would have received a reply from him. My prof was pretty shocked too about the FBI business. There was no mistake about that One thing about sending an unprofessional person to such a place is that sometimes guards are dropped Thank you very much for sending me a copy of the letter I was quite shocked by the FBI thing as well.

My professeur said in quite strong terms that I shouldn't visit any more places. He's quite paranoid about the FBI and the CIA. Since I'm been reading some of the books he's lent me I can see why - it's frightening. But I did call some places. The Am. Embassy said Bow St. is the place to contact or the Press Ass. They put me through to the library and I have no idea who she checked with as she called me back the next day but I didn't press it. I would think you should write to the Notaries at the Embassy. I called Bow St. and the man said to write a letter stating what you want + the purpose, etc. - you know. Also the librarian at the Embassy said the Press Ass. kept pretty complete files.

So the addresses are—

Chief Clerk of
The Bow St Magistrate's Court
18 Bow Street
London W.C.2

Also the man who wrote the article on the ~~Mafia~~ Mafia that I sent is Jeremy Campbell. It might be worth your while to write to him and see what he says. I couldn't get his Washington address but you can write to him c/o The Evening Standard, Fleet Street, London EC4

I don't know all that much about Dawnay but my prof thought it might be a good idea to go and hear some of his theories - unless you thought it was a negative idea. I don't know how much of an exchange you have with him but maybe it would prove worthwhile.

Okay? I'm sorry I took so long and that I didn't press things at the Embassy as much as I could have. I think tho that Bow St Court is the main place to contact.

I hope you had some luck with Eugene. I should think his reply would be very interesting.

Good luck with your endeavors,

Cindy
